Mitigate risks and drive better business outcomes

For in-house attorneys, legal advice is business advice. You know your company's risk tolerance and priorities. Combine that with our unmatched California-specific guidance on corporate governance, fiduciary duties, and business contracts and you'll continue to be an indispensable business partner for your company.

Each year, in-house attorneys are asked to handle more work internally with less staff. Streamline your increasing workload with Practitioner In-House. We've got expert guidance and practical tools covering employment law and compliance, entity governance and duties, real estate leasing and land use, and litigation management.

Falling out of compliance often happens because in-house attorneys inherit antiquated and inconsistent processes. Modernize your legal operation and create consistent work using attorney-drafted templates that always incorporate the latest legal developments so you know you're on top of any potential compliance issues.
