

CEQA Hub

Determine impact. Advise with confidence.

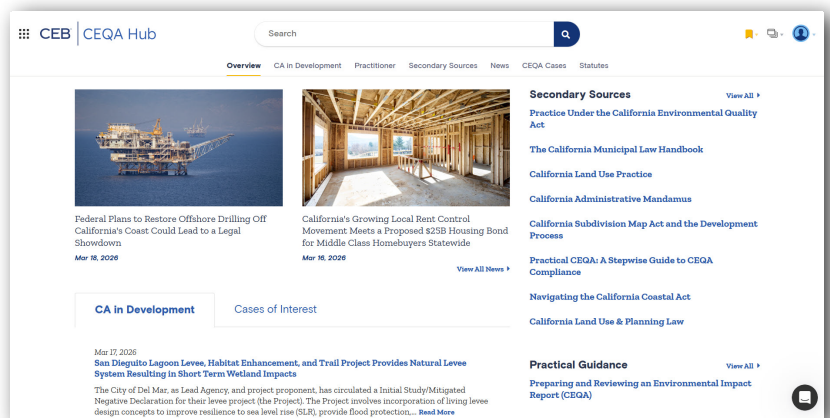

Land use attorneys handling CEQA matters operate within one of the most complex and fast-moving regulatory environments in California law. Projects unfold over years, involve significant capital investment, and evolve under constant impact from new legislation and the scrutiny of California courts and agencies.

For attorneys advising on land use and environmental matters, the challenge isn't simply finding authority. It's determining whether a new case, strategic filing or regulatory change materially affects a client's project – and what it means for strategy, timelines, cost and exposure to judicial challenge.

The new CEQA Hub from CEB is a CEQA-specific intelligence environment built to clarify interpretation and practical impact. It brings together CEQA case law, strategic filing summaries, focused news and trend reporting, practical guidance and trusted secondary sources in one continuously updated environment designed specifically for CEQA practice.

With CEQA Hub, attorneys can:

- >> Quickly determine whether a new case or filing materially affects their clients' projects
- >> Understand practical impact across jurisdictions, project types and procedural contexts
- >> Identify emerging litigation trends, market signals and strategic approaches
- >> Anticipate issues that may affect project approval, cost or exposure to judicial challenge
- >> Strengthen client advisory with trusted authority and curated insight
- >> Reduce nonbillable research time with CEB-editorially analyzed CEQA developments

CEQA Hub organizes CEQA-specific case law, strategic filing insights, news, guidance and secondary sources into one focused environment designed to help attorneys assess impact quickly and advise clients with confidence.

What Makes CEQA Hub Different

Traditional research platforms are designed to help attorneys find documents.

CEQA Hub is designed to help attorneys interpret CEQA changes and determine how those changes affect clients' projects across California.

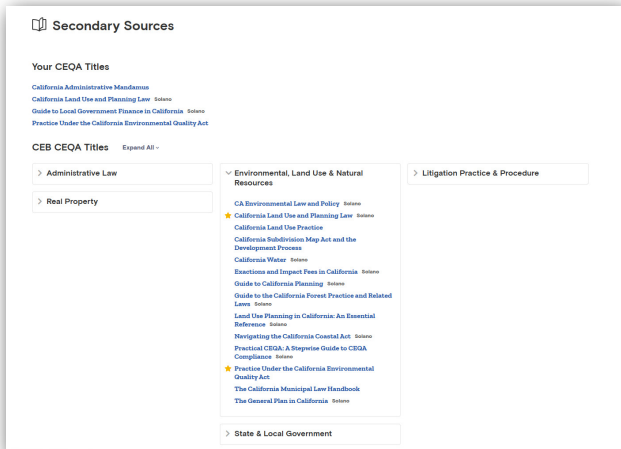

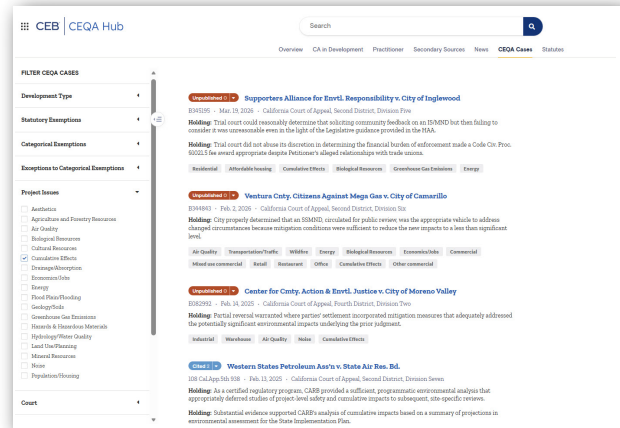

By combining CEQA-specific editorial structure with curated insight and trusted authority, CEQA Hub helps attorneys move from information to actionable understanding faster, supporting clearer client guidance and better-informed business decisions.

Key Capabilities

CEQA Case Feed with Editorial Holdings:

CEQA appellate decisions enhanced with editorial holdings and CEQA-specific facets organizing cases by issue, exemption, project type and procedural posture.

Attorneys can quickly determine whether a decision materially affects their clients' projects and make tactical decisions about project strategy and the need for further research.

Trusted Secondary Sources Integrated Into Workflow

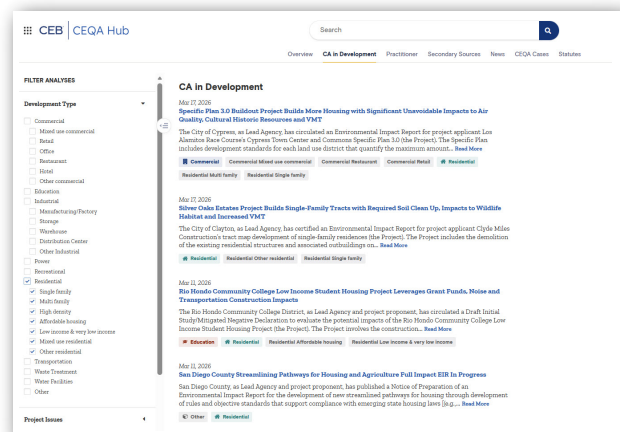

A curated, searchable library of practitioner-trusted secondary sources, including Solano Press titles, integrated directly into the CEQA research workflow.

Attorneys can move seamlessly between authority, analysis and advisory preparation.

California in Development Filing Summaries

Editorial summaries highlighting a small number of strategically important CEQAnet filings that provide insight into emerging approaches, market trends, and evolving strategies.

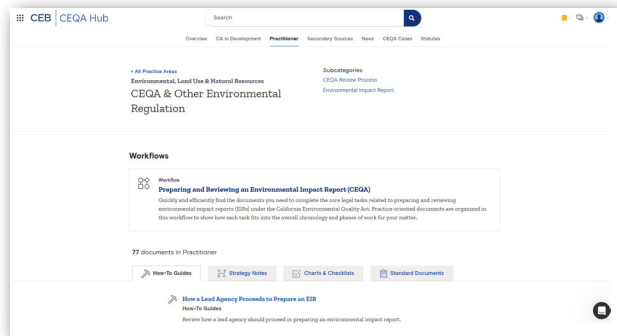

These summaries cut through a massive volume of daily filings to surface the developments most likely to inform client guidance, litigation strategy and broader market awareness before trends appear in published case law.

CEQA News and Market Trend Reporting

Focused CEQA news and quarterly trend reporting distilling legislative changes, reform efforts and evolving agency and judicial interpretation.

This reporting helps attorneys recognize emerging patterns across jurisdictions and project types, enabling stronger client guidance and more informed business conversations.

Practical Guidance Built for CEQA Practice

Task-oriented guidance designed for CEQA practice, including workflows addressing complex regulatory environments such as the California Coastal Commission.

These workflows support project positioning, strategic decision-making and stronger defensibility.

Built for How CEQA Attorneys Manage Risk

CEQA practice evolves through legislation, rulemaking, highly fact-specific judicial interpretation and shifting litigation strategy.

CEQA Hub helps attorneys:

- >> Assess the impact of new case law faster
- >> Reduce time spent determining what is immediately relevant
- >> Identify emerging litigation trends, market signals and strategic approaches
- >> Strengthen client advisory and strategic positioning
- >> Support project approval and reduce exposure to judicial challenge
